

doing business with new products and new intellectual property rights etc. With the claimed rights and rights claimed from other products, new industries and so on will be built around the newly discovered products and intellectual properties. On-line interconnecting networks will be a means to market, to promote and to license intellectual property by any and all means. Peoples' ideas, products and marketing will be tested and used by any and all means electronically and in any all services of now and in the future .

Claimed 13 process method to create infrastructures for the discovery of new technology and patents etc. In building infrastructures, markets, and distributorships from those intellectual properties, identification will be made with the name Future and not limited to the name Future. Interconnecting of networks and testing, promoting and marketing will make new identification of classes and define new product patents. The building of new markets and infrastructures in any sector around those newly discovered markets and patents in the retail world is not limited to just online but to the interconnection in building networks markets by any all means .

Claim 14 method process claim the method of doing business of building and connecting infrastructures. With the building of infrastructures and interconnecting infrastructures, the building methods of structures and arena distributorships will interconnect and represent any marketing sector with any product or good and service which can be thought of. Infrastructures and interconnecting infrastructures will be used as a means to test, promote and market, etc. people's ideas or anything by any and all means, to build new products and services and to protect new intellectual property rights, etc. that can be identified and related to the future and not limited to the future. Claimed are the means and methods of interconnecting industries for testing, developing and marketing new ideas to discover new products and service, thereof.

Claim 15 process method to build structures, cities and entities that encompasses utilities and designs, etc. which are futuristic and future related which will be identified by the name of Future etc. with protection of all intellectual property rights that can be protected and identified with the future. Interconnecting infrastructures by any all means will allow testing, development and marketing of ideas in any all marketing sectors with the name Future, etc. thus, discovering new intellectual properties from those entities and developing infrastructures for marketing, thereof.

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

This is a method process of doing business, creation of building structures and infrastructures, and marketing methods of products, services and intellectual properties. Included are Interconnecting infrastructures that will test, produce, advertise, and market in any and all marketing sectors and will include products or goods and services that deals with any service of now and especially of the future and to discover new technology products identified with the name Future, etc. The building infrastructures to work with any intellectual property testing, production, and marketing in any and all classes and marketing sectors by any and all means which includes on-line and electronic means to identify, test and market new products and services and access Information anywhere.

This includes the establishing of legal rights to the Future brands and the building of those markets around any new products and goods and services. A futuristic city or establishment built on an island or elsewhere will feature Future hotel and motel resorts, libraries, museums, radio TV broadcasting, entertainment, retail stores, shopping malls, grocery stores, gas stations, theaters, health care services, transportation, manufacturing, research services, and utility services, so on and so forth. New infrastructures will be built to test, manufacture, promote and market in sectors around those newly discovered goods, products and services. The unique design will be futuristic or future related. The city will feature rotating stores with its own solar powered amusement parks.

Products, goods and services that are seen to be beneficial all to future generations will be protected. Infrastructures and marketing will be built around those new products, goods, services and intellectual properties for testing, producing, advertising and marketing with the name Future and not limited to the name Future. Included are the methods and rights to the building of infrastructures and the use of on-line with the ability to interconnect networks and markets for testing and promoting new ideas, as well as, marketing these products, goods and services by any and all means in any marketing sector. Marketing names etc online can be identified with any service, product or good and then identified with licensing of Intellectual property. Products, goods and services will be protected to build new markets and infrastructures, so on and so forth.